DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly amended claims 21-28 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: Newly submitted claims 21-28 contain non-elected subject matter of the previous restriction requirement (see claim 24). The combination of claims 21 and 24 was not elected. Since applicants have already presented claims showing evidence that the subject matter of the newly submitted claims are patentably distinct from the subject matter of the elected invention, claims 21-28 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 21-28 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: "locking arms" should be --locker arms--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-3 and 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cole (US 3,669,031) in view of Oltman et al. (US 4,239,195) and Braddock (US 5,578,953).

Regarding claim 1, Cole discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a docking station comprising a boundary frame having a docking socket (12, 14) and a peripheral functional gear (22) comprising a retractable utility table (at 22) slidably received in a side opening (at 24a and 24b). Cole fails to teach a locker device comprising a plurality of locking members and a plurality of resilient locker arms, and a utility tools box. Braddock discloses a locker device comprising a plurality of locking members (28) and a plurality of locker arms (26) for detachable locking a cutting machine. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a locker device as taught by Braddock on the device of Cole in order to detachably locking the cutting machine. Furthermore, Oltman discloses a utility tools box (30) mounted on a side of a workbench. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a utility tool box as taught by Oltman on the device of Cole in order to provide easy access for utility tools to an operator of the cutting machine. Regarding claim 2, at 25 and 30 of Cole. Regarding claim 3, see col. 3, lines 40-52 of Cole. Regarding claims 5-6, the modified device of Cole discloses a dolly frame (16) comprising two wheel assemblies (49) and a dolly handle (56).

5. Claims 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cole in view of Ransom (US 6,672,348) and Braddock.

Regarding claim 13, Cole discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for a cutting head having a cutting blade overhangingly supported above the cutting table and a locker device comprising a plurality of locking members and a plurality of locker arms. Ransom discloses a miter saw (26) mounted on a frame. Braddock discloses a locker device comprising a plurality of locking members (28) and a plurality of locker arms (26) for detachable locking a cutting machine. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a miter saw as taught by Ransom and a locker device as taught by Braddock on the device of Cole in order to detachably locking the miter saw to perform different cutting operation. Regarding claim 14, the modified device of Cole teaches a retractable utility table (at 22) slidably received in a side opening (at 24a and 24b).

6. Claims 15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cole in view of Ransom and Braddock as applied to claims 13-14 above, and further in view of Oltman.

The modified device of Cole discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for a utility tools box. Oltman discloses a utility tools box (30) mounted on a side of a workbench. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a utility tool box as taught by Oltman on the modified device of Cole in order to provide easy access for utility tools to an operator of the cutting machine. Regarding claim 17, the modified device of Cole discloses a dolly frame (16) comprising two wheel assemblies (49) and a dolly handle (56).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3, 5-6, 13-15, and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
